

HAPPY NEWS

KIDS

Pigeon family rescued from post van

Image Credit: Curious Critters

Special delivery! A family of pigeons surprised everyone after hitching a ride in a Royal Mail van in north Somerset for more than three weeks. The mum had built a cosy nest underneath the vehicle, keeping her two fluffy babies (called squabs) warm and safe as the van went on its daily rounds. It wasn't an easy rescue, but kind-hearted volunteers managed to carefully lift them out to safety. The pigeons were all found to be in good health, and will soon be released together back into the wild.

Nice to 'sea' you!

Meet Chonkers, a huge and super-confident sea lion who's drawing big crowds in San Francisco, USA! He plonked himself on a pier about a month ago and has refused to leave, and now people are travelling from all over the country to watch his funny antics. Chonkers isn't the usual kind of sea lion seen there, which is why experts say he's causing such a splash. Even though he already weighs around 1,000kg (that's as heavy as a small car!), experts think he's still a pup!

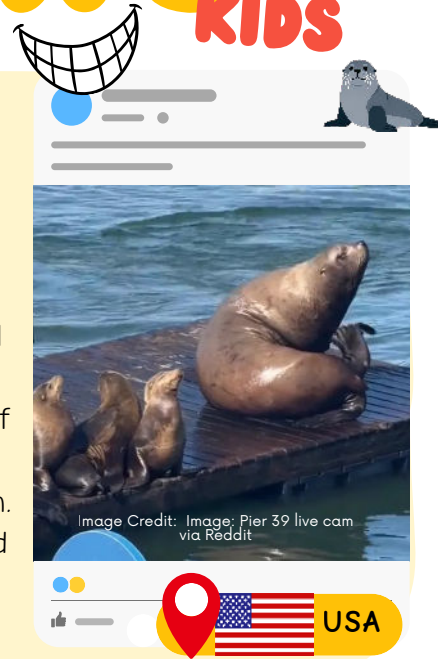

Image Credit: Image; Pier 39 live cam via Reddit

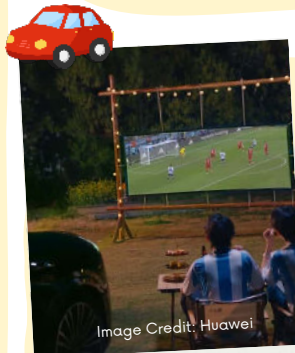

Image Credit: Huawei

The car that turns into a cinema...

Have you ever been to a drive-in movie? In the near future, you might be able to enjoy one anywhere you go! The clever team at Huawei has created a car with amazing headlights that can project movies, games and colourful pictures onto walls or the ground. That means your car could turn into a mini cinema or games machine wherever you park! The fun new tech could appear in a future version of the Aito M9... watch this space!

Joke of the Week

Why was the football stadium so cool?

Because it was full of fans!

Football fever for furry fans!

The 2026 FIFA World Cup starts next month, and now pets can join in on the fun too! FIFA has teamed up with Adidas to create adorable mini football kits just for furry friends. So far, they have revealed the designs for Mexico, Colombia, Argentina and Japan, and they're tiny versions of the real team shirts - how paw-some is that?

Super homes keep children safe

Scientists have created special two-storey "super homes" to help protect families and children in parts of Africa from diseases. These clever houses are designed to stop mosquitos getting inside, with features like screened windows, better airflow and raised sleeping areas. In tests, children living in the homes stayed much healthier, with lower rates of malaria, coughs and sore throats. Even better, the homes are simple and low-cost to build!

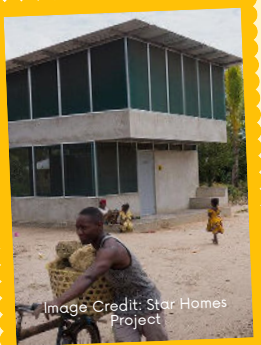

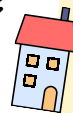

Image Credit: Star Homes Project

Think Happy

Close your eyes and imagine a safe place - it can be real or imaginary. Hold onto that calm feeling and return to it when you need to.

Image Credit: Adidas

